Re: Letter of Recommendation – L. Alicia Monroe

To Whom It May Concern:

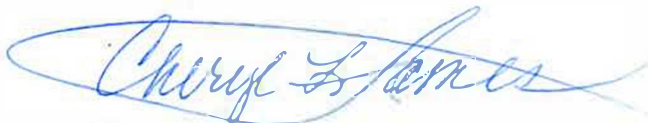

Let me say first that I rarely write a letter of recommendation for anyone whether I know them well or in passing. This is why it is especially rewarding to recommend L. Alicia Monroe to you.

I first met Alicia seven years ago on the job. She was hired to take over our customer web based newsletter. We found her to be a self-starter and very detail oriented, her follow-through and writing skills were impeccable, and our customer web site and newsletter took on a higher level of professionalism. If challenged with software program mechanics, she would research, learn and apply this knowledge to the process. We never had to worry about her work ethic. She continues to apply the same determination and thoroughness to each and every project, class, challenge and opportunity.

From this work relationship Alicia became my friend. We have walked through some very tough and joyous times together as changes have occurred in our families. I have found her to be steadfast, honest, loyal, and an encouragement to me. She is well balanced, enjoys life and wants the best for her family. These same characteristics overflow to others whether they are adults or children. I treasure the fact that I can call her my friend.

It is my humble opinion that Alicia will make an outstanding teacher. She is the kind of personality that students will remember (in a good way) long after their time in her classes. Should anyone from your office need to speak further I can be reached at 405 942-8794 (home) or 405 520-1686 (cell).

Best regards,

Cheryl James
