

Descriptive Paragraph — Person Draft 1

My puppy's name is Ben. He is a mutt we rescued in June but he looks mostly like a chocolate lab. He loves to fetch.

He is crazy about his tennis ball. He is very loyal.

He often follows me around the house like a magnet.

He is protective of me and his sister, Molly.

Descriptive Paragraph — Person Draft 1

When I saw Ben for the first time ...

● V

My puppy's name is Ben. He is a mutt we rescued in June

but he looks mostly like a chocolate lab. He loves to fetch.

Combine into one sentence

He is crazy about his tennis ball. He is very loyal.

He often follows me around the house like a magnet.

Combine into one sentence

He is protective of me and his sister.

^
Molly, the runt of the litter

Add sensory details describing what

Ben looks like and how he sounds:

- floppy ears bouncing up and down
- oversized paws
- white blaze on chest
- howling

Ethan Monroe

Descriptive Paragraph Draft 2

Ms. Lacy

English 8

11 October 2012

My Puppy Ben

When I saw those floppy brown ears for the first time, Ben popped out of a drainage ditch on the side of the road, barely eight weeks old. He has grown since we rescued him and his littermates but he's as playful as ever. His long tail wags and his ears bounce up and down when his oversized paws pounce in hot pursute of a tennis ball. Looking more like a chocolate lab than anything, this loyal little guy follows me all over the house like a magnet. His chest bares a white blaze like his sister, Molly, the runt of the litter, who he plays with and protects. Its adorable to watch them wrestle or to hear Ben howl when Molly barks.

Ethan Monroe

Descriptive Paragraph Draft 2

Ms. Lacy

English 8

11 October 2012

My Puppy Ben

When I saw those floppy brown ears for the first time, Ben popped out of a drainage ditch on the side of the road, barely eight weeks old. He has grown since we rescued him and his littermates but he's as playful as ever. His long tail wags and his ears bounce up and down when his oversized paws pounce in hot pursuit of a tennis ball. Looking more like a chocolate lab than anything, this loyal little guy follows me all over the house like a magnet. His chest bares a white blaze like his sister, Molly, the runt of the litter, who he plays with and protects. It's adorable to watch them wrestle or to hear Ben howl when Molly barks.

Ethan Monroe

Descriptive Paragraph Draft 3

Ms. Lacy

English 8

12 October 2012

My Puppy Ben

When I saw those floppy brown ears for the first time, Ben popped out of a drainage ditch on the side of the road, barely eight weeks old. He has grown since we rescued him and his littermates, but he's as playful as ever. His long tail wags and his ears bounce up and down when his oversized paws pounce in hot pursuit of his favorite toy — a tennis ball. Looking more like a chocolate Lab than anything, this loyal little guy follows me all over the house like a magnet. His chest bares a white blaze like his sister, Molly, the runt of the litter, who he plays with and protects. It's adorable to watch them wrestle or to hear Ben howl when Molly barks.